The Freedmen of the South. Testimonial to President Lincoln from the Colony at Island No. 63.

ISLAND 63, MISS. RIVER, January I, 1865.

To His Excellency Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States: A few grateful freedmen, on this anniversary of their liberty, desire to send to President Lincoln, as a New Year's offering, a small bale of cotton, the first fruit of their freedom which they owe to him.

It has been doubted if the colored race could become self-supporting. Let one little colony speak for itself. When Gen. Buford assumed command at Helena, in September, 1863, he found the town thronged with freed negroes, in every stage of desti-ISLAND 63, MISS. RIVER, tember, 1863, he found the town thronged with freed negroes, in every stage of destitution and misery, and dying daily in large numbers. It was impossible to find employment for all of them in town, and the General determined to remove some of them to Island No. 63, thirty-five miles below Helena, to see if it could be made a self-supporting colony, provided he could find any one willing to take charge of them. He proposed to me to do so. I consented, and on the 26th of November, 1863, embarked with about fifty for the island.

They took with them only a few tents embarked with about fifty for the island.

They took with them only a few tents, axes, and rations for several weeks. As soon as they arrived, they began to cut wood for steamboats. A company of colored soldiers was stationed on the island by General Butler, for the protection of the colony, and also that passing steamboats might, without danger, supply themselves with wood. In about three weeks the colonists began to pay for their rations, their axes, and other implements of labor. In the course of six weeks about two hundred more were added to their number. Very few of these were able-bodied men, capable of enlisting as soldiers; but chiefly the old of enlisting as soldiers; but chiefly the old and feeble, the women and children. They worked faithfully at wood-cutting, and when the season for planting cotton arrived they were equally assiduous, and they have they were equally assiduous, and they have reaped the fruit in the successful cultivation of about thirty bales of cotton, now ready for the market. They have bought and paid for their gin-houses, machinery, &c. They have built for themselves and their teachers comfortable log houses, each with its garden attached, in which they raise vegetables, not only for their own use, but to sell to the steamboats.

They also finished a substantial building, used as a church and school-house; a hospital, whose furniture was given by the Sanitary Society of St. Louis, and an infirmary, where the aged and decrepid and young orphan children are furnished a home. With all this stock in land, and with their cotton, they now consider themselves worth about they now consider themselves worth about $22,000, and their estimate has been approved by competent persons. They owe their success in a great measure to the constant protection and kindness of General Buford, who has always been ready to advise and assist them.

who has always been ready to advise and assist them.

I might apologize for occupying your Excellency's time with this history, and also for the liberty we have taken in sending you this specimen of the willing labor of hands freed by your proclamation of two years ago, were I not assured that no one could feel more interest than yourself in any project which may help to solve the great problem of the future of the colored race on this continent.

Take on this continent.

I have the honor to be, most respectfully, your excellency's obedient servant,

The Call for a Conservative Convention in the Second District.

[For the Union Press.] The "small fry" politicians and officelishing a Kentucky party in politics; the the conservative National Union party of the Second District for a Convention to select a candidate for Congress. This call select a candidate for Congress. This call is rather suspicious. It seems to have emanated from members of the Legislature, and not from the people; and in this hour of peril and confusion, the people wish to be heard all along the process of making public servants. They know but two parties—the Union and the rebel; and they are unable to perceive the propriety of the term conservative in its connection. They term conservative in its connection. They hold that Union men are the only true con-servatives, and that by preserving the Union, they uphold all the great interests of the present and future generations. They therefore, while they hold it to be their duty and privilege to suggest the best measures, and discuss with care and anxiety all that may be proposed by others for the accom-plishment of this great end, yet submit cheerfully to the will of the majority when authoritatively expressed. They approve of no factious opposition to government, nor indirect indorsement of the rebellion. nor indirect indorsement of the rebellion. They hold that offices were made for the benefit of the people, and not of office-holders, and they desire no conventions held to place them, in antagonism with the loyal people of the whole country. In short, the people of Kentucky wish to wheel into line with the loyal people of the nation. If the conservatism these gentlemen speak of is of the Chicago, species, the loyal people. is of the Chicago species, the loyal people want none of it. It has been doomed to infamy and death by the voice of the people; it has been weighed in the balance and found wanting; its fruits among us have been a wider spread rebellious feeling, and an increased number of guerrillas, and guerrilla outrages. We want no more of this, and the gentlemen concerned in getting up the Convention would do the peo-ple a favor by informing them whether their conservatism is of the Chicago Kind, or whether it is a Kentucky conservatism of a peculiar kind, gotten up for the sake of office.

ONE OF THE PEOPLE.

Came up with the same force to lines came up with the same lone came up with the same force to lines came up with the same force to lines came up with the same lone came u one Hundred and Fifteen Millions of 7-30s. From the Philadelphia Press, March 11th.] Nearly 115 millions of the popular 7-30 Loan had been disposed of up to Saturday night last, and not more than 50 millions of this particular loan yet remain. It will be borne in mind that the notes now sold have a little less than two and a half years to run before they mature, when the valuable privilege occurs of their convertibility into 5-20 bonds, which have five years to run from August 15, 1867. It is generally believed that our new and able Secretary, Mr. McCulloch, favors the present popular system of distributing Government loans, as now familiar to the people. Therefore it is to be expected that, after the present issue of 7-30s is exhausted, the sale will be continued upon a new issue, having a longer period to run before the valuable privilege of convertibility into 5-20 bonds occurs to them. The six handed william into interest. of convertibility into 5-20 bonds occurs to them. The six hundred millions just authorized by Congress will probably, as far as needed, be raised from sales of the 7-30 loan, divided up into three or four series of issues—say 100,000,000 or 150,000,000 each—the first series of one hundred and fifty millions maturing and hundred and fifty millions maturing say one year later than the present old issue, and so on, making each series mature one and so on, making each series mature one year later than the previous one, and if holders required the loan to be paid at maturity, the demand could be met by receipts from internal revenue and other sources. The subscription agent, while endeavoring to dispose of the present issue as rapidly as possible, does not wish to convey the idea that there will be no more of the 7-30 loan, as Mr. McCulloch will doubtless decide that the people shall be allowed to continue their subscriptions without changing the nature of the loan further than to postpone the maturity of the issue to later periods. Some will regard those maturing at an earlier date with more favor; others, regarding the probability of a speedy resumption of specie payments, will favor those having longer time to run.

RUESMESS MOTIORS,

The Rush to Missouri.

The friends of the emancipation ordinance passed by the State Convention, on the 11th of January, predicted rightly when they said that the success of the measure would witness a revival of emigration to this State. We need go no further than our own city to ascertain the increased value of property, the demand for dwellings, and the steady stream of capitalists pouring into Missouri, seeking farms and places of settlement. The copperheads have undertaken to misrepresent the true condition of the inferior to many of the new comers, and we are informed that a regular system is practiced of searching the hotels for parties who are en route to the interior, or temporarily stopping in the city on business connected with the purchase of land, and grossly exaggerating the troubles in the country, and the insecurity of life and property. These outrageous lies are the effect of a malicious spirit, which seeks to undermine the real interests of the State to subserve the purposes of treason. We warn serve the purposes of treason. We warn our friends from abroad to be on their guard against these harpies, and to discredit their statements in toto. They are unworthy Missourians, who are unable to live themselves in the country on account of their open affiliation with bushwhackers, and consequently are opposed to the settlement of Union men near their old homes while the war lasts elsewhere.

The creation of land agencies, real estate The creation of land agencies, real estate and emigration depots, by numerous parties, indicates the increasing demand for such services, and personal observation will satisfy the incredulous that the prospects of a large and beneficial emigration from the free States are very encouraging. As the rebels run off, good honest Union men from Ohio, Pennsylvania and New England will enter a very encouraging will enter the state of the men from Ohio, Pennsylvania and New England, will enter, and we are heartily glad to make the exchange.

The evidence of an increasing activity in farms in North Missouri is more conclusive, if possible, than the experience here. We find the following in the Louisiana (Pike county) Journal of last Saturday:

"We are informed that the counties bordering the North Missouri and Happibel

"We are informed that the counties bordering the North Missouri and Hannibal and St. Jo Railroads are swarming with land buyers from the Eastern and Middle States. We are also told that some of them are making their appearance in our county. We met a gentleman from Pike county, Illinois, last Sunday, who had been over here to purchase a farm for his son. He told us that lands were renting as high in his neighborhood as they were selling for in portions of this county. He thinks there will be numerous buyers here shortly. This gentleman was surprised at the low price of land here in comparison with that just across the river."

The Legislation of the last session in regard to the extension of the North Missouri gard to the extension of the North Missouri railroad is having its effect on the value of land in that section. We have heretofore published a list of land sales in Clark and Adair counties, which showed an astonish-ing demand for eli-ible farms, particularly around Kirksville in the last named county. Probably more land has changed hands in these two counties in the last three months, than in the four previous years.

The same rush of emigrants to Northwest Missouri is anticipated as in other localities, and the St. Joseph Union of last Tuesday and the St. Joseph Union of last Tuesday says:

"On Sunday morning over five hundred passengers came in on the Hannibal train, the number being so great as to require additional cars to transport them. They were principally persons who were coming to Northwest Missouri in search of farms, and three car loads went up to Savannah on the train the same day. A number of gentlemen from Ohio remained in our city, who intend purchasing property in this county for a large number who desire to come West, and for whom they are agents."

These new comers are generally men of seekers of this State in their scramble for office, have succeeded apparently in establishing a Kentucky party in politics; the main teatures of which are opposition to the measures of the Gesolated fields along the border blossom like the rose. We hail these predictions with great pleasure, and welcome the me the the measures of the Government, denunciation of its chosen officers, and a marked tenderness toward rebels, their aiders and abettors. I notice in the Journal a call by will continue until every county is densely inhabited and every acre of land is doubled in value.—[St. Louis Democrat,

Nathaniel T. Allen, Esq. By oversight a paragraph reflecting very everely upon this distinguished educator, found its way into yesterday's PRESS. It was quoted from some Eastern paper and appeared without our knowledge. We regret its appearance exceedingly, for it does gross injustice to Mr. Allen. His case was submitted to thorough legal investigation, and the result was an entire exoneration from the charge brought against him. For years Mr. Allen has had a most sucful school at Newton, Mass., and has enjoyed the full confidence of parents, and of all the most enlightened friends of education. He is a fine scholar and a humane, energetic, excellent man, strict as a disciplinarian but faithful and kind.

We left Alexandria Va., a few days after

One regiment lay in the rear of Fort Anderson while the fleet reduced it by bombardment. I saw the whole attack, and though nothing like the Ft. Fisher attack, it was grand, and after 24 hours they evacuated in the night. We around them, which was done, resulting in capturing their battery and several hundred prisoners. We found every bridge burned, but at length got in sight of this place while they were burning their public works, the evening before they evacuated. Brunswick river stopped us within two miles, but we could see what they were at Heavy works on the Wilmington side had to be reduced before our troops could get up, but at length we came in and raised the stars and stripes on the 22nd of Februup, but at length we came in and raised the stars and stripes on the 22nd of Februthe stars and stripes on the 22nd of February. So strong were their works all the way up the river that nothing but a powerful fleet could have overcome them. We found the rice plantations all deserted except by all negroes and children. The best of every thing had been carried off. We marched without baggage, and when I got up here I was black with pine smoke and sleeping on the ground. The Nabobs here have generally left, but the mass of the people remain and are glad of Yankee rule. The whole town and country show that they have got their "rights." We have

Correspondence of the Union Press CAMP NELSON, Ky., March 17, 1865. In this number I promised to notice the reputed "mortality" in this camp, particularly in the "Refugee Home."

The general order of the camp is good. The general health is good. In the "Refugee Home," among hundreds of women and children, under present circumstances, we must expect sickness and death. I do not propose to defend the ward system. Wards do well for men who enjoy plenty of open-door exercise. They can leap into a bunk, sleep for a night, then out leap into a bunk, sleep for a night, then out and on the tramp again.

But to gather one hundred and fifty children together into one ward is not well. The spread of infection, the effect of continued noise upon the nervous system, the depression of mind incident to the continuous spectagle of disease and death—all are ous spectacle of disease and death—all are unfriendly to health and happiness. Health and happiness will be in proportion to our approach to the family relation. The present wards can now be sub-divided and found very useful.

Often one natural family will be found comprising this number.

But we especially notice that the past and much of the present mortality is not to be ascribed to the ward system. About the beginning of winter, in an extreme "cold snap," some three or four hundred of these women and children were thrown out of camp, without food, with nothing to shelter their bodies but what little was then on them—they were dumped down along the them—they were dumped down along the highways, or along the streets of the neighboring towns, this cold weather. Many thus contracted disease from which they never recovered; and from which they would have died, even under most favorable circumstances.

Again, many of these women and chil dren have come from the homes of cruel dren have come from the homes of cruel masters, with but little to cover their bodies and shelter them from the cold and rain. Traveling as they did by night, and wandering in fields and woods so as to escape cruel pursuers, they contracted diseases from which they have never recovered. The flight of these fugitives has been in the season of the year most inclement, and into a "home" just in the beginning of erection, and dependent upon the charities of the world for clothing and comforts. In a slave State, where a large portion of the people State, where a large portion of the people are calloused in their feelings by the exist tence of slavery, these comforts—even necessities—for restoration to health are but

The dread mortality incident to the sudden and exposed transition, is to be attrib-uted not so much to freedom nor the Refuge Home, but to the cruelties and meanness of slavery. Let us wipe away the cause, and we will have none of these sad effects. More anon.

WRDNESDAY, MARCH 22, 1865.

LOUISVILLE:

News of the Day.

Sherman is reported to have captured Goldsboro and joined Schofield on Sunday. His march through the country has been entirely unopposed. The rebels are afraid to stand up before him, and scatter before the rumor of his coming like leaves before the wind.

Sherman ordered the arsenal at Favette-Sherman ordered the arsenal at Fayette-ville to be blown up, coolly remarking that he "didn't think the government would need any arsenals in either of the Caroli-nas." This is asdry as one of Ward's jokes; and, like Ben Johnson's celebrated retort, it's true, if it don't rayme.

Sheridan is on his way back to the James river. Sherman and Schofield are said to be moving directly up the Weldon road. The clouds are gathering thick about Richmond. If the traitors wait till they break, such a storm of black hail will beat in upon them as they never dreamed of in their wildest panics. wildest panics.

The assertion was made in the North Carolina Legislature lately, based on official documents, that the strength of the rebel-lion is only 121,000. The last roll call of the rebei armies is not far away, when there shall not be enough to give the non respondet, and not even Davis shall have the ssurance to answer "dead on the field of fulfillment of his prophecy?

The telegraph man says that when Bragg evacuated Kingston he took away with him all rebels, arms, and munitions of war. This is too good to be true. Heretofore these evacuations have always left a good many rebels on our hands,

The strength of Johnston's army is thought not to exceed forty thousand. The statement is made that the legisla ture of North Carolina has protested against the guerrilla style of war which Davis affects. It is not unlikely. The inhabitants of the Old North State are neither so disloyal nor so cowardly as some not so far away. It is safe to assume that she will at once take position as a Union State, when the Conqueror has driven out her enemies

Flour in Richmond is only fifteen hun dred dollars a barrel, and other necessities pro-rata. Who says Sheridan did it?

The sales of seven-thirties on Monday reached $3,125,656. There are only twenty-three millions left, and the loan will be all taken this week. Sales yesterday amount to $3,075,400.

There is intense excitement among the New York gold and stock gamblers. As our devil says, "they've hearn something drap."

Very Small Crumbs.

The Richmond Examiner is discovering more good omens concerning the campaign now opening up around the doomed city. In its issue of the 13th it devotes a long article to the consideration of the only two signs of promise it appears to discern. One is that the "farmers are coming forward with their supplies to feed the army." The other is that Wade Hampton showed pluck in the correspondence with Gen. Sherman relating to the treatment of captured foragers. A despondency that such considerations can lighten is not a very lively emotional state.

"Fancy that thou deservest hanging, and it will be a luxury to be shot." It has been said that the fraction of human happiness is increased as readily by diminishing the denominator, as by increasing the enumerator. The rebels have so long ceased to expect much of anything, that a very little comfort is a very great relief. We shall expect to see ere long Richmond papers consoling their readers with the assurance, that the city is abundantly able to hold out against the besiegers for several hours yet, and that the public apprehension of its im mediate fall are ill-timed and groundless!

Sheridan's Ride.

Have our readers followed the track of Phil. Sheridan, during the past three weeks? Or have they swallowed each fragmentary report with their matutinal Mocha, to be regularly forgotten before dinner? For then they have failed to com prehend the most gigantic and effective cavalry raid of the age.

Starting from Winchester on Monday, 27th ult., the troopers of the Middle Division made thirty miles in two days, reaching the once beautiful town of Woodstock, in Shenandoah county, on the borders of the region of desolation. Moving rapidly up the valley, Gen. Custar dashed upon Early, already trembling with presage of defeat, at Waynesboro, Augusta county, twelve miles east of Staunton, driving him incontinently from the field, and taking forty officers, thirteen hundred men, eight cannon and over a hundred wagons. Early was not again heard from till he passed Frederick's Hall station, about forty-five miles from Richmond, hastening to cover with a remnant of only two thousand disspirited men. Thence Custar drove him in hot haste towar dAshland, nearly serving a writ of habeas corpus on him at the crossing of the South Anna.

Sending back his prisoners and cannon under escort, (which escort had a fight with General Rosser for the possession of the prisoners near Mt. Jackson), and sending a party to destroy the culverts and bridges as far back as Swoop's Depot, eight miles west of Staunton, Sheridan moved through Rockfish Gap in the Blue Ridge, and entered Charlottesville on the 4th, without opposition. Destroying the large iron bridges over the Rivanna river on the Gordonsville road and Morse's Creek on the Lynchburg road, on the 6th he spread out his force like a half-opened fan, carrying destruction everywhere through the quadrilateral formed by the James river and the railroads north of it, embracing eight of the most fertile counties in the State. On the Lynchburg road, every bridge was destroyed to Amherst, fourteen miles from Lynchburg, and eight miles of track were torn up. The James river canal, the most valuable avenue of supplies left open to Lee, was effectually ruined from Duguidsville, fifteen miles east of Lynchburg, to Goochland, thirty miles west of Richmond. To repair this canal alone would require two years under favorable auspices. The mills, manufactories, supplies, &c., destroyed in the country north of the canal, sometimes amounted to a million dollars value per day. Moving again up to the Central railroad, the track was torn up for fifteen miles west of Beaver Dam. This movement confounded the rebels, who expected him to cross the river and strike for Burke's nal claims to be a "Union paper," I would station, the junction of the Danville and South Side roads. Their confusion became alarm when he hurled Early over the South | call of the Wickliffe-Harney secessionists, Anna. Destroying the bridges over the South Anna on both the Central and Fredericksburg roads, he dashed upon Pickett, Journal as a secession ticket, and its supsent out to Ashland to stop him, and easily porters were also denounced as secessiondrove him back upon Richmond. The panic in Richmond became almost uncon-daring raiders. It was no part of Sheridan's plan to throw his cavalry against Lee's veterans; and, having accomplished already more than was hoped for, he crossed the Pamunky, closely followed by Longstreet. At noon of the 18th, having been in the saddle just three weeks, he appeared at Putney's, in King William county, a few miles above White House. This point Gen. Roberts held, in anticipation of his arrival. (This, by the way, is a minor indication of the facility with which Grant grasps all possible details. Nothing is left to chance, as under McClellan. We have painful reason to remember how Curtis, moving twenty thousand half starved men down the valley of the White river, could nowhere find Fitch with his promised supplies; and how, after reaching the Mississippi, were dragged out many weary days before help came. Now the leader of an expeditionary force finds always his base prepared and his supplies awaiting him.)

To say all in one word, Sheridan has laid waste thirteen counties in twenty days, doing irreparable damage to the rebellion, and supporting himself on the country. He has proved that it is possible for our cavalry to go all round Lee at pleasure. The fangs of the hydra may yet be seen in Richmond, but the poison bag is almost empty. It is no longer dangerous to look the monster in the face. "We will carry war," said Davis just four years ago, "where it is easy to advance, where food for the sword and torch await the armies." Is he pleased with the Emancipation and Prosperity.

We invite particular attention to an article from the St. Louis Democrat on the increase of emigration to the State of Missouri consequent upon emancipation. It will be found on our first page. Its import to the citizens of Kentucky cannot be too carefully pondered. The picture there presented is exactly the reverse of what is transpiring here. The current is all in the other direction with us. Loyal men, brave, earnest, enterprising men of large business capacity as well as others of less pretensions are leaving Kentucky almost daily. And no inconsiderable amount of wealth goes with them. Why is this? The mmediate cause is two-fold. On the one hand is the uncertain condition, or rather the certain wreck of labor in the State. On the other is the peril that besets all enterprises outside the well-guarded towns from guerrilla invasions.

Both these conditions, as now presented in Kentucky, are directly connected with the institution of slavery. The pro-slavery fanatics of the State are the rebels of the State. We know that a good many men who are pro-slavery deny all sympathy with the rebellion, and deny it with much vehemence and some cursing. But this fact the most impudent hypocrisy dare not deny, viz: that all the treason in the State is given over with unreserved and utter devotion to this demoralizing and destructive institution. It is safe to say that not one emancipationist is a rebel. Pro-slavery men at best therefore are in foul company, and have no right to complain or be surprised if the suspicion of treason taints their reputed loyalty. But pro-slavery rebelsagain have furnished the stimulus, the shelter, and the base of guerrilla warfare.

Such a career of robbery as that which has devasted the State for these many months, producing apprehension, distress and the paralysis of all enterprise, in large sections of it, could not have been carried forward but for this infamous encouragement. This fact also will not be denied. Now, whatever individual exceptions there portioned to its pro-slavery sentiment. Proslavery fanaticism and devotion to country are at opposite ends of the balance. As the one goes up the other goes down. Loyal men in regions infested by guerrillas are unanimous in the declaration that their greatest fear is occasioned by the proximity of rebel neighbors. And these rebel neighbors are the men who are most afflicted at the lawlessness of the Constitutional amendment, and at the "high-handed" measures by which their "solemn constitutional guarantees" are stricken down. Such is the indisputable relation now existing between slavery in Kentucky and its internal disturbances.

Is it any wonder then that the friends of freedom and lovers of country clear out? Is it any wonder that outsiders stay out? So long as Kentucky hugs this viper, slavery, to her breast, so long must she feel and suffer from its sting-which is treason! If slavery is not treason in its entireness, and in detail, neither is the viper all sting. But the sting is planted in the body, and derives its nourishment and its venom from the juices of the body. And if torn from its organic connections another may grow in its place. Death, and not surgery, is the only sensible treatment for such reptiles.

Let the reader mark this; there will be no immigration to Kentucky, nor even cessation of the emigration out of it, no fresh quickening of our prosperity, and no regaining of what is already lost, till slavery is dead and buried. It needs no prophet to see this. The relations of cause and effect in the case are too visible to be overlooked by the most casual observer. Men who would be disposed to come hither and settle will reason most naturally and logically thus: a people that can hang on with dogged obstinacy to such an institution as slavery spite of the treason, crimes, and perils it has engendered, after it has ceased to be profitable, ceased to be anything but an intolerable nuisance and burden, and after its doom is sealed beyond a peradventure, such a people they will say cannot be a desirable one to settle amongst. It is in vain to attempt meeting such an objection by argument.

It is gross blindness not to see the active operation of the objection. Shall Kentucky slump down thus into helpless imbecility and self-contempt, to gratify a whim that was never founded in conscience or reason, that has lost its hold upon mercenary passions and that now derives its sole support from malignant or traitor hearts?

[For the Union Press.] Mr. Campion, who is announced to-day for re-election to the Council from the Third Ward, has made a most efficient member, and well deserves a re-election.

I find the above paragraph in the Louis ville Journal of yesterday, and as the Jour respectfully ask if this is the same Mr. Campion whose name was appended to the published in the Democrat in 1863, and which at the time was denounced by the ists? Is the Journal now supporting open secessionists for office, under the cloak of troleable. Longstreet was sent to stop the Unionism? INQUIRER.

DRAFT INSURANCE.

DRAFT INSURANCE.

PREMIUM!

NOTICE TO ALL MEN

LIABLE TO DRAFT

AND JEFFERSON

DRAFT!

In Louisville and Jefferson county there are hundreds of men liable to draft whose business relations are such that serving the Government as drafted men, or procuring substitutes at the present high rates, are alike attended with peculiar hardships.

We have, after deliberate calculation and careful examination, concluded to insure men against the draft ordered for the 15th of February (now tempority deferred), and have completed our arrangements for the purpose of furnishing and mustering into the service an acceptable substitute in every case where one of the insured is drafted.

Experience has shown that persons can be insured against the perils of fire and disease upon a fixed calculation of risks. Are not publicand individual interests subserved by insuring against the contingency of being drafted? It is estimated that of the number liable to draft a certain proportion will be drafted.

Accepting this ratio as a basis, we feel justified in undertaking to insure against the ncoming draft, and shall muster in acceptable recruits in proportion to the ratio of quota to the number on enrollment list.

Each man insured will be given, on payment of premium of insurance, a certificate which shall entitle him to exemption, and in the event of his being drafted, we will furnish the substitute in his name and stead. and thereby procure from the Board of Enrollment his exemption papers, which are to be given him upon his returning said certificate of premium to us.

To those whose busines; relations make it a great sacrifice to go as drafted men, and those who, if drafted, would be unable to procure substitutes, the benefits to be derived from such insurance are plain and You are insured against the anxiety and personal inconvenience incident to one who knows not but what his name may be drawn from the wheel. From these haras sing cares and anticipation you are rerelieved, as we will fill your place with an acceptable substitute, already mustered in, if you are drafted. You are thus spared the pecuniary sacrifice which you must make when, after being notified that you are conscripted, you attempt to pay an exorbitant price for a substitute, when men take advantage of your individual necessity. You are then left to the prosecution of your business and the enjoyment of a home's privilege, and if poor, can you not better pay a moderate sum now than an exorbitant price for a substitute after the draft?

Believing that the public have confidence in our ability to perform what we propose, and of which we will furnish the most satisfactory evidence, we shall enter upon our undertaking. This proposition cannot fail to meet the wishes of hundreds in Louisville and Jefferson county, for it insures an acceptable substitute to every drafted man who may take insurance of us.

We have facilities that few enjoy, and shall be careful not to undertake more than we can safely, and without fail, thoroughly accomplish.

We will insure against the draft ordered for the 15th of February, 1865, and all supplemental drafts to fill the quots under that call for

One Hundred Dollars!

This sum strikes us as so moderate as to induce hundreds to ster, promptly forward, and avail themselves of the opportunity offered. Indeed, all who have not a representative in the service should secure this chance, unless they prefer going themselves if drafted.

GOODS FOR BOYS' WEAR, We are now ready to meet the public, and as there are many hundred still needed to fill the quota for the city and county, we may not only solicit their prompt attention, but invite their co-operation in a matter of interest to all concerned.

Call at the Counting-Room of Democrat Office and learn rates at which a guarantee will be furnished.

PROVOST MARSHAL .- Major Henry Plessner, of the 9th Ohio Cavalry, has been reassigned to duty here as Provost Marshal, as will be seen by the order in another column. The Major has been at his home in Toledo, Ohio, on a short leave of absence, and on reporting here for duty he was promptly assigned to his old post, a recognition of his fitness for the place, and a proof of the satisfactory manner in which he discharged the duties of the office while in his charge before. His re-assignment to duty here as Provost Marshal, too effectually disposes of the charges upon which his alleged dismissal from the service was based. It is but justice to the Major to say that if any order dismissing him from the service was ever issued from the War Department, he has never seen it, and from all that can be learned, the Secretary of War knows nothing about it.

Capt, Swope, of the 5th Indiana Cavalry, has been the acting Provost Marshal for some time, and has discharged the duties of the office in an efficient and satisfactory manner.

NOTICE TO THE FRIENDS OF PAROLED AND EXCHANGED PRISONERS,-In view of the great anxiety felt throughout the country for the welfare of our prisoners now arriving at Annapolis, Maryland, Miss Clara Barton, by permission of Gen. Hitchcock, Commissioner of Exchange, with the sanction of the President, has kindly undertaken to furnish information, by correspondence, in regard to the condition of our returned soldiers, and especially those in the hospitals at Annapolis; and, so far as it may be possible, to learn the facts connected with those who have died in prison and elsewhere. All letters addressed to Miss Clara Barton, Annapolis, Maryland, will meet with prompt attention.

ILLINOIS MILITARY AGENCY .- Col. Walter DeB. Morrill has been appointed military agent for Illinois at this point by the Governor of that State, and has located his office on Second street, between Market and Jefferson, east side. The Colonel has served for over three years in the field and endured with the soldiers the hardships and privations of active service, and he understands thoroughly their wants and interests. He is now visiting the different hospitals in and about the city, looking after the interests of Illinois soldiers in them.

SHRUBBERY, &c .- For the purpose of improving and beautifying the grounds at the Jefferson Hospital a large amount of shrubbery is required. Any parties who may have ornamental plants to spare from their grounds, and are willing to contribute them for the comfort of the wounded soldiers in the hospital, will confer a favor by communicating, by note, through the Post Office, Louisville, to the undersigned, when or where to call for them; or if they can conveniently send them to Mr. J. E. Hardy, No. 325 Main street, they will greatly oblige

L. G. OLMSTEAD,

Chaplain, United States Army. REBEL DESERTERS,-One hundred and sixty-eight rebel deserters were sent over the river yesterday from the Military Prison, and released. Most of them came into our lines at Chattanooga and took the amnesty oath and were forwarded here to be sent north of the Ohio, where they are to remain while the war lasts. They were all furnished transportation by the Government to such points in the North as they desired to go to. Many of them went to Chicago, Detroit, Toledo, and other places near the Canadian border, Many perhaps will not stop long this side of the border.

GUERRILLAS CAPTURED,-As the Glendale was descending the Cumberland river on Thursday last, she took on board at Clarksville a squad of cavalry, and quietly landed them at Palmyra. Before the boat landed, a number of horses were discovered in the vicinity of a new log nouse, near a ravine. When the cavalry were landed six men were ordered to dash up the hill while others were sent on the other side of the ravine. The result was the capture of three guerrillas before the boat left, and perhaps more. The guerrillas did not seem to anticipate the landing of cavalry from a boat, and were consequently taken completely by surprise.

We call attention in this morning's paper to the advertisement of Ben Mason on Fourth street. He has just received an elegant assortment of cloths, casimeres, and vestings, which he proposes to sell very low for cash.

BARRACKS.—Porty convalescents were received yesterday at the Barracks, and 138 recruits from Columbus, Ohio, 100 from Springfield, Illinois, 53 from Covington,

SETH B. HOWE'S GREAT CIRCUS,-Amusement seekers are on a qui vive just now occasioned by the announcement that Howe's great circus will be here soon. The propri- April election. etor commences a brief season in our city tractions which no other one traveling possesses as will be admitted on looking over the bills. The great troupe of Bedonin Arabs, the unrivalled gymnasts and acrobats, are with it, The perilous feats of these hardy sons of the deserts have excited the greatest astonishment and admiration wherever they have been. It will be seen also that the far-famed bare back rider, Mr. James Robinson, is with this circus. He is positively unrivalled in his feats of bare back riding. There are many other features of great attraction in this circus-

STABBING AFFAIR.-Between the hours f 7 and 8 o'clock on Monday night, in Nashville, a soldier named Myers, belonging to the 10th Tennessee, received what is considered a facal wound from some unknown person. The soldier and stranger were together at the box office of the Old Theater, where some words passed between them. Both persons were seen to retire to the gas-light at the corner of the alley adjoining the theater, and the stranger drew a knife and inflicted a severe wound in the abdomen of the soldier, and afterwards made his escape. The affair is mysterious, the soldier not knowing what provoked the difficulty. Myers was removed immediately afterwards to Hospital No. 19, and his wound dressed by Dr. Brown, the surgeon in charge. It is thought that he cannot recover.

LOUISVILLE THEATER. -Mr. Fairecough will appear to-night, without fail, in Bulwer's great play of "Richelieu." In the rendition of the great character of Cardinal Richelieu he is said to have no superior. Miss Ada Gray, a favorite actress, will appear as Julie de Mortimar. The laughable farce of "In and Out of Place" will conclude the performance. A dance between the pieces by M'lle Eloise.

AMNESTY OATH.—The amnesty oath was administered yesterday at the Provost Marshal's office to George W. Weaver, of Jefferson county, Ky., deserter from the 17th Louisiana Infantry; and Michael Eagan, Dixon county, Tenn., deserter from the 11th

Frank Drew appeared last night in his great burleque, "Solon Shingle," closing with the personation of "Tim O'Brien." The bill for to-night opens with the "White Horse of the Peppers," in which Frank makes the horse laugh, and closes with 'The Widow's Victim."

The oath of allegiance was adminis tered at the Provost Marshal's office yesterday to Patrick W. Burk, Jefferson county Jos. L. Wilson, Hardin county, and Wm. Spiers, Howes' valley, Ky., all citizens.

Thirty-seven prisoners of war were received at the Military Prison at this place, from Nashville, last night.

[For the Union Press.] HE BELIEVES THE COUNTRY IS ABSO-LUTELY RUINED .- There is a man, an acceptable member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, who live's a few miles below Brandenburg, in this State, who had the misfortune some time ago to have two negro men to leave and enlist in a colored regiment. Each had a wife owned by the old brother, who determined, when he learned what his men had done, that they should never visit their wives agair. Said he, in speaking of the matter to a neighbor, "I intend to divorce them." That old brother heard a few days ago that Congress had passed a law freeing the wives and children of all the s'aves that enlist in the This has caused him to get terribly rabid. The Bonds of the city of Louisville, to the amount of $200,000, authorized to be issued to raise a Bounty Fund, will be ready for sale as soon as they can be printed and filled up, which will be in a few days. The Bonds are for $1,000 each, with cou-pons attached for semi-annual payment of interest; one hundred of the bonds being payable ten years after date, and the other hundred payable twenty years after date. That the citizens of Kentucky, especially of Louisville, may have an opportunity of making an investment in the purchase of the bonds to such amount as they may wish, those who desire to purchase will please, at once, address the Mayor of the city, giving their name and residence, the number and character of the bonds pronumber and character of the bonds pro-posed to be bought and the highest price they are willing to pay therefor. This invi-tation for proposals is not, however, limit-ed to citizens of Kentucky.

THE ECLECT'C MAGAZINE WAS COMMENCED IN 1844, and has been successfully condusted for the last twenty years, from that time to the present.
As many of the rumbers are out of print, and it is impossible for the Publisher to supply back volumes from the commencement, it is proposed, with the January number, to begin a New Series and a New Volume, and while all the essential features of the work will be retained, some new ones will be adopted which, it is believed, will add to the artistic and literary value of the work.
Notwithstanding the greatly increased cost of publishing, THE PRICE WILL STILL EPMAIN THE SARE, and we trust our fliends and patrons will aid us in increasing our circulation by inducing their friends to commence subscriptions with the NEW SERIES.

The contents of THE FCLEOTIC are carefully selected each month from the entire range of Foreign Quarterlies Monthlies and Periodicals.

It aims to give the choicest articles from the pens of the most eminent foreign writers on trains of general interest. THE GREAT QUESTIONS OF THE DAY, touching Literature, Morals, Science, Philosophy and Art, are thoroughly and ably discussed by the most brilliant and distinguished expositors. thoroughly and ably discussed by the most brilliant and distinguished expositors.

OFFICE OF THE LOUISVILLE UNION PRESS, TUESDAY EVENING, March 21, 1865. The wholesale market was more unsettled and de-pressed to-day than yesterday, and owing to the fluctuations of currency quotations are difficult to make. Transactions are extremely limited, and confined chiefly to filling small orders to jobbers, or the retail and country trade. The receipts and stocks of the leading articles continue fair, but until the finances are settled the trade cannot be active. The weather has been extremely unfavorable for out-door business to-day, being quite rains with high winds, muddy streets, and the river rising fully an inch per hour, with some apprehensions of anothe freshet and overflow. The money market to-day is more stringent than ever, with an increased inquiry for currency to pay tobacco sibility of war between England | bills, as the receipts of that stape are increasing and th product is being brought more freely into market. The banks are restricting their loans to extensions to their regular customers, and to them very sparingly. As we see by our dispatches from the East, the fall in gold and the consequent unsettled business has produced a depresnent on the heavy supplies of Federal the consequent unsettled bosiness has produced a depression and the continued arrival of cotton ed large amounts of the reserve funds of merchantile firms. CAMP LIBRARIES.

NEW YEAR'S GIFT CAMPLIBRARIES

THE UNITED STATES CHRISTIAN COMMISSION I in response to numerous and earnest appeals from surgeons, chaplains and field officers, will receive, for ward, and place under the care of proper librarians, ONE THOUSAND FOUR HUNDRED AND FORTY CAMP AND GUN-BOAT LIBRARIES of one hundred and fifty volumes each-if the friends of our soldiers and sailors will ferward them to its branches, or to the Central Office, during the holidays. It is bus small matter for each purchaser of holiday gifts for friends at home, to buy a handsome and pleasant book for his friends in camp or hospital, write his name in it, Rich Dress Goods, Bonnets, Hats, Shawls, and direct the bookseller to sand it to the Commission. It will be a positive pleasure to hundreds of wives and nothers to take down the choicest volumes from their ookcases and send them thus where their leved ones can enjoy the pleasure and profit of perusing them. Send none but the best; our soldiers deserve the best. The standard ssayists, histories, biography, travels, science, poetry, nagazines, standard works of fiction, whatever, in short you would put into the chamber of your own brother confined with a broken limb, will be acceptable, as well MY BROTHERS'S WIFE: as religious works. Forward the parcel to J.E. HARDY, 325 West Main street, or to J. G. BARRETT, Treasured Citizen's Bank, Louisville, Ky. ISAAC RUSSELL Secretary.
